

COLLEGE COUNSELING AT SAGE HILL SCHOOL

Sage Hill's college counseling program is designed to ensure students engage in academic and co-curricular pursuits that best prepare them for college, support students in navigating the college admission process and assist them in determining their ideal college fit.

9th grade

College counseling begins

You will participate in group meetings and workshops with the Dean of Ninth and Tenth Grade College Counseling and upperclassmen college counselors.

Admission representatives from 160+ colleges visit Sage Hill each year

Representatives get to know Sage Hill and see the value of the Sage Hill experience, and you have an opportunity to interact with the person who will likely read your college application.

10th grade

Private family meetings

You and your family can meet individually with the Dean of Ninth and Tenth Grade College Counseling to create and refine an individualized plan for academics and co-curricular opportunities.

35:1 Student-to-Counselor Ratio

Get highly personalized attention from counselors who get to know you.

Upperclassmen counselors are assigned

You and your family will form close relationships with your counselor, who provides personal advice on standardized testing, college visits, summer activities and other important factors in the college process based on your unique personality, learning style, goals and other preferences.

- Counselors are available to meet regularly with you and your family throughout 11th and 12th grade.

- Counselor-led workshops keep the process on track, including summer essay and application workshops prior to senior year.

12th grade

Finalize college applications and choose your college!

When you finalize your college list, your counselor can help review your applications and ensure transcripts, teacher recommendations, and other required elements are submitted to each college in a timely manner. Finally, when you receive your admission results, your counselor is there to help you choose the best fit!

- Sage Hill college counselors are former admission professionals who have worked in college admission, collectively read thousands of applications, and are adept at writing letters of recommendation that help you stand out.
